Guide for the export
of personal effects

MARINE TRANSPORT

We are pleased to inform you that our company has obtained AEO certification (Authorised Economic Operator); this allows customs simplification and favours safety and security.

Our constant concern is to serve you better; this new European status will strengthen the quality and control of our transport and/or customs clearance operations for your account.

In order to best prepare your shipment we need to remind you of the administrative, customs and regulatory formalities. With this in mind you will find below a guide for the export of personal effects, together with forms that you should complete and sign before returning them to us.

Please note that this information is necessary to ensure the proper operation and the quality of our services.

DOCUMENTS TO BE PROVIDED:

- Photocopy of your identity document;
- Certificate of change of address (request information from your local authority) in the event of a change of address of your main residence;
- Copy of your transfer notice if applicable;
- Detailed inventory with values of the objects to be shipped (see attached appendix)
This document must be dated and signed by the shipper.
- Personal effects declaration (see attached appendix)
- Used tyres: sworn declaration (see attached appendix)
- Refrigerators and freezers: sworn declaration (see attached appendix)
The law prohibits the export of refrigerators and freezers containing certain gases (CFC12, R12, R502, etc.)
- Goods in use: sworn declaration (see attached appendix)
- Direct representation mandate, to be completed (see attached appendix)
- Spare parts: the supplier provides a depollution certificate to testify that they have been depolluted.

CAUTION: used tyres, engines and used spare parts that have not been depolluted, electrical equipment, such as television sets containing cathode ray tubes, electrical equipment in poor condition or unserviceable, refrigerators and freezers containing prohibited gases that attack the ozone layer, old mobile phones, etc.

All these products may be considered as waste by the customs authorities and the DREAL (Regional department for environment of the arrangement and the accommodation), and consequently their export is prohibited and subject to sanctions provided for in the clauses of the Penal Code.

Disputes, fines and the destruction of waste are entirely for the owner's account.

ALL GOODS AND OBJECTS DISPATCHED MUST BE IN GOOD WORKING ORDER AND PROPERLY
